The Duel of Two Duchesses

A GREAT social duel, perhaps the most interesting that has ever occurred, is beginning between the two American duchesses in London.

The two American duchesses are the Duchess of Manchester and the Duchess of Roxburgh. They are the only American duchesses to speak of, just now. Poor Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, who was once known as "the American duchess," has been completely deposed. A duchess who has had trouble with her duke, even though it is entirely his fault, cannot remain at the top of society.

The Duchess of Manchester and the Duchess of Roxburgh are remarkably well equipped for a brilliant social combat, in which the weapons will be balls, house parties, diamond tiaras and other heavy artillery of that sort.

The Duchess of Manchester has more royal friends, but the Duchess of Roxburgh has more millions. Which will win?

Just for the moment the social plans of the Duchess of Roxburgh are more interesting. Hitherto she has not taken the leading position in England which was expected of her as a member of the Gouet and Wilson families and one of the "smartest" girls in New York and Newport society. But now she is making a bold campaign for the first place. She is a thoughtful social campaigner, and has studied the situation long and carefully in order to make no false moves.

In the first place, she has secured the finest home available in London. This is Stratford House, in Stratford place, Oxford street, lately owned by Lord Osborne, who found he could not afford to occupy it. Mayfair has generally been recognized as the fashionable centre of London, and Park Lane, which faces on Hyde Park, is undoubtedly the most fashionable thoroughfare in Mayfair. But it is impossible to obtain a house fit for an American duchess in Mayfair.

The owners of the best houses will not sell them, and the others are not worth buying, even as built for them. The Duchess of Marlborough found it so hard to buy land in Mayfair that she built an immense house with not a single inch of ground around it. Close at the back are saloons, green grocers' shops and suburban establishments of that sort.

Many members of the British aristocracy are turning up their noses at Mayfair, probably because they cannot afford to live there. They say it is filled with Americans, South Africans, Germans and undesirable citizens.

At any rate, the Duchess of Roxburgh did not care to live in Mayfair. She went across the street from that district and took a house that looks directly down upon it. Stratford House is on the north side of Oxford street, a great, wide thoroughfare, and Mayfair lies on the south side, falling steadily down hill.

The Duchess of Roxburgh has done wonders with Stratford House. While preserving all the dignity of an old English mansion, she has made it as comfortable as the most expensive New York apartment house. It is a severe but handsome house, standing upon a wide open space that separates it from the street. Its position is dignified as well as healthy.

The ballroom, as rearranged by the Duchess of Roxburgh is probably the handsomest in London. The most striking feature of its decoration is the purple brocade which covers the walls, with dull gold moldings above it. The electric fittings and water supply are superior to anything hitherto known in a London house.

With this palace as a base of operations, the Duchess will make a strenuous effort to lead society during the season which reaches its height in May and June. She has not hitherto had a London house, because she could not find one good enough. She has, however, made important friends in British society. She has entertained the Prince and Princess of Wales at 40 Grosvenor Castle in Scotland, which she has renovated at a cost of $1,000,000. She has also been included in house parties with the King, who was delighted with her conversation.

The Duchess probably surpasses any woman in Europe in the number and magnificence of her dresses and the costliness of her jewels. When she travels she carries as many as a hundred trunks. Her dresses dazzle the beholder, and yet are models of good taste and fashion. At a recent entertainment she wore a Worth creation of yellowish creamy lace made over a deeper colored stuff. About the low shoulder was a dark band of sable which fell to the feet in two tapering lines divided to give the appearance of founts to the figure. Across the average a band of two hundred diamonds sparkled, and around the throat was a collar of other stones to match the setting. On the street the next day she wore a bright scarlet skirt, a tight Frenchie lamb coat with a studded steel belt and an extensive picture hat. She buys a pearl or diamond necklace about once a week.

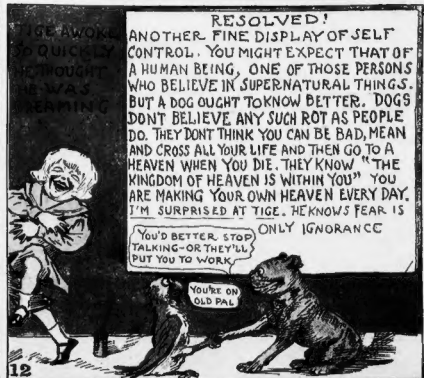

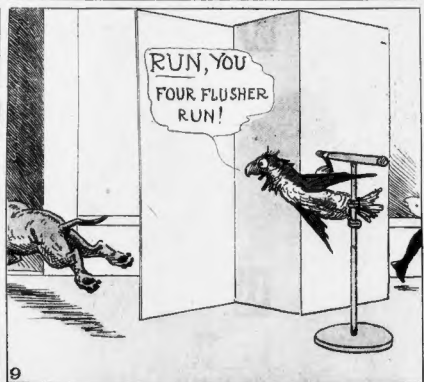

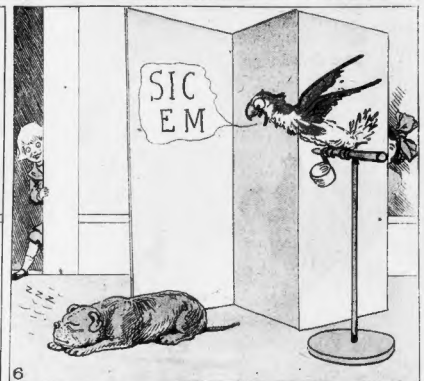

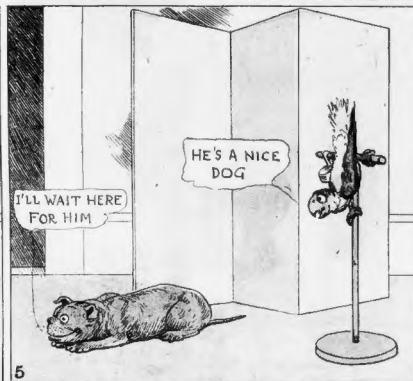

A person looking at things from the New York point of view would say that this progressive young duchess would easily conquer London, but she has a very strong rival in her complot, the Duchess of Manchester. She has become a remarkable favorite with the royal family, and the little Manchester sister with the children of the Prince of Wales.

The Duel of Two Duchesses

A GREAT social duel, perhaps the most interesting that has ever occurred, is beginning between the two American duchesses in London.

The two American duchesses are the Duchess of Manchester and the Duchess of Roxburghe. They are the only American duchesses to speak of, just now. Four Countesses, Duchess of Marlborough, who was once known as "the American duchess," has been completely disposed. A duchess who has had trouble with her duke, even though if it be entirely his fault, cannot remain at the top of society.

The Duchess of Manchester and the Duchess of Roxburghe are remarkably well equipped for a brilliant social combat, in which the weapons will be talk, house parties, diamond tiaras and other heavy artillery of that sort.

The Duchess of Manchester has more royal friends, but the Duchess of Roxburghe has more millions. Which will win?

Just for the moment the social plans of the Duchess of Roxburghe are more interesting. Hitherto she has not taken the leading position in England which was expected of her as a member of the Goelet and Wilson families and one of the "smartest" girls in New York and Newport society. But now she is making a bold campaign for the first place. She is a thoughtful social campaigner, and has studied the situation long and carefully in order to make no false moves.

In the first place, she has secured the finest house available in London. This is Stratford House, in Stratford place, Oxford street, lately owned by Lord Colborne, who found he could not afford to occupy it. Mayfair has generally been recognized as the fashionable centre of London and Park Lane, which faces on Hyde Park, is undoubtedly the most fashionable thoroughfare in Mayfair. But it is impossible to obtain a house fit for an American duchess in Mayfair.

The owners of the best houses will not sell them, and the others are not worth buying, even as building sites. The Duchess of Marlborough found it so hard to buy land in Mayfair that she built an immense house with not a single inch of ground around it. Close at the back are mews, green grocers' shops and plebeian establishments of that sort.

Many members of the British aristocracy are turning up their noses at Mayfair, probably because they cannot afford to live there. They say it is filled with Americans, South Africans, Germans and undesirable citizens.

At any rate, the Duchess of Roxburghe did not care to live in Mayfair. She went across the street from that district and took a house that looks directly down upon it. Stratford House is on the north side of Oxford street, a great, wide thoroughfare, and Mayfair lies on the south side, falling steadily down hill.

The Duchess of Roxburghe has done wonders with Stratford House. While preserving all the dignity of an old English mansion, she has made it as comfortable as the most expensive New York apartment house. It is a severe but handsome house, standing upon a wide open space that separates it from the street. The electric fittings and water supply are superior to anything hitherto known in a London house.

She has not hitherto had a London house, because she could not find one good enough. She has, however, made important friends in British society. She has entertained the Prince and Princess of Wales at all-ours Castle in Scotland, which she has renovated at a cost of $1,000,000.

She has also been included in house parties with the King, who was delighted with her conversation. The Duchess probably surpasses any woman in Europe in the number and magnificence of her dresses and the coquetry of her jewels. When she travels she carries as many as a hundred trunks. On the street the next day she wore a bright scarlet skirt, a tight Frodoe hat with a scolded steel belt and an extensive picture hat. She buys a pearl or diamond necklace about once a week.

A person looking at things from the New York point of view would say that this progressive young duchess would easily conquer London, but she has a very strong rival in her competitor, the Duchess of Manchester. She has become a remarkable favorite with the royal family, and the little Manchesters play with the children of the Prince of Wales.

MIRACLES in the year 1907 A. D.: The lame made to walk and the blind to see! "Impossible," you say. Yet Christ's teaching in regard to healing the sick has been as successfully applied at the fashionable Emmanuel Church in Boston by Dr. Elwood Worcester and Dr. Samuel McComb, two scholarly Episcopalian clergymen, that hundreds of persons, who suffered from various nervous diseases or were enslaved by liquor or drugs, testify to the wonderful power of these modern disciples of the Great Healer.

Religion and Science, they declare, have joined hands; the result is a church clad in history, which offers to those who have been cured belief will mean more to humanity than anything that has come to pass since Jesus Christ died, and will revivify the Christian ministry. What may be the final wonder? Will these men be able, as they progress, to raise the dead? Who can tell? Ask the enthusiasts who follow them.

A close parallel exists between the case of Charles H. Packard, of 224 Mill street, in Boston, who was a helpless cripple, but after treatment by Dr. McComb easily walked a mile and a half, and the case of the man afflicted with paralysis whose recovery is the subject of the second chapter of Christ healed.

In the second chapter of Christ healed, it is recorded that Jesus said: "I say unto thee, Arise and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house." The next words of Mark are: "And immediately he arose, took up his bed, and went forth before all them that saw him." The "immediately" of the Gospel of Mark is the "immediately" of the Gospel of Matthew. The "immediately" of the Gospel of Luke is the "immediately" of the Gospel of John. The "immediately" of the Gospel of Mark is the "immediately" of the Gospel of Matthew. The "immediately" of the Gospel of Luke is the "immediately" of the Gospel of John.

THE REV. ELWOOD WORCESTER, WHO ESTABLISHED THE CHURCH CLINIC.

Finally he felt compelled to give up his business, and consulted a well-known specialist in Boston. The latter declared that he had Brich's disease, but could be cured of the malady. Almost immediately Mr. Packard had the pain appropriate to Brich's disease in the right place. He had no trace of it, but, believing he was so afflicted, he suffered as heathen as if he had been a victim.

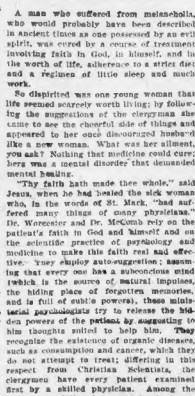

The distracted man at length worked himself up to such a pitch of nervous excitement that one day he fell unconscious and remained in a state of coma for three days; a physician who examined him said he was extremely weak. When Mr. Packard became conscious he complained of a numbness in his leg; the physician thought he might have suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, but his pulse was as good as if he had had a severe stroke. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was under the observation of the foremost medical men of Boston; they agreed that there was nothing the matter with him physically, but he often suffered agony while under their care. During the next six months, while an out-patient of the hospital, he grew weaker; in his pitiable condition he could hardly walk and dragged his left leg as if it were useless.

He was an almost helpless cripple and ready to believe anything any doctor might tell him when he heard of the wonders he had performed in Emmanuel Church. With hope and fear much the same as those which must have come to the lame who the church he was examined first by a physician who diagnosed his case as false neuralgia of the heart, and then came under the treatment of Dr. McComb. After several weeks of treatment by the clergymen, he had been almost completely cured of his nervous form of death, but had been over his four years, was able to walk a mile and a half. When he last saw Mr. McComb Mr. Packard said: "I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

Of himself, Mr. Packard said: "I was so grateful for what has been done for me that I wish to do all I can to help others in suffering. I believe this new movement will mean more to Christianity and to humanity than anything that has been done in recent times."

Another marvelous cure was that of a man who was almost blind. After the pain had been induced to believe that he was cured, he was able to read the "New York Times" by a progressive course of reading, beginning by reading only one minute each day, he gradually increased the length of the reading period until he could read for hours at a time without inconvenience.

away every doubt and hesitation and then be cheerful and hopeful. Think less about yourself and more about others. Rest, sleep, be calm."

In explaining the purpose of the church clinic, Dr. Worcester says: "Scientists for years ignored the soul. It is only within the last few years that a revolt against materialism in medicine has sprung up from the writings of eminent physicians and scientists such as Jahnke and Carpenter and others, men who recognized the relations of mind and body. Christian Science, New Thought and mental healing, many people away from religion to materialism, believe each contains an element of truth. The revolt against materialism and orthodox religion is a popular revolt in the name of the soul. But it is not necessary to go outside orthodoxy as to desert true science to lay hold of this wonderful healing power that has been discovered within the mind. There is a true body of literature existing today on the power residing in the soul. We purpose to lay hold of these newly defined psychic powers through religious faith and exact science. While we are going to establish a clinic, we expect to come into our efforts to nervous diseases resulting from conditions of the mind. The Church has a unique opportunity: it can bring religious faith to heal mental maladies which neither drugs nor surgery nor surgery can cure. It is not enough to fight against evil thoughts; they must be driven out with something else. The human mind is so constituted that it cannot entertain opposite views at the same time. We shall not deny the reality of pain, but assert that God's love is an infinitely powerful force. We shall not use electricity, but the power of God."

Dr. McComb, the assistant recter, has the confidence resulting from success, and says this of the possibilities of the movement: "The new psychology says that the mind has almost limitless power over the body. If you have not the key to open the subconscious mind, we will try to give it to you by suggestion. Behind this movement are some of the most scientific minds in New England. Be assured that whatever is the form of your neurosis, you can be healed."

Both Dr. Worcester and Dr. McComb are fully equipped for their work. The former, who was once pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, has been professor of psychology and philosophy at Lehigh University and has spent several years in Germany studying with the foremost psychologists. Dr. McComb, after studying the principles of the Mutter's Riverside Presbyterian Church, New York, in 1899, gave himself up to several years of research work in psychology and philosophy in Germany and England.

NO. 53, RUE DES TROIS FRERES MONTMARTRE (THE HOUSE IN

OGRESS LIVED, WHILE FOUR OF THE BABIES DIED.

PARIS, May 30.—The case of "The Ogreess of Montmartre" is again causing the deepest emotion and rage among the population of Paris.

The crime, whose actual name is Jeanne Weber, is held responsible by the inhabitants of Montmartre and of Paris generally for causing the death of at least five children, and yet there is no reasonable explanation how she killed any of them.

One child after another who came in contact with the excess of Montmartre died suddenly and mysteriously, as if some invisible unknown force had stopped the life. There was never any sign of violence on the body, and the doctors called in were unable to state the cause of death with any certainty. All that was known positively was that Madame Jeanne Weber had touched them upon the breast.

The case recalls the most fantastic medieval legends of ogres and, who dwell in caves in the woods and feasted on the blood of children, and of the actual historical Marshal de Mals, of the fifteenth century.

The parents of the dead children are convinced that Jeanne Weber took their lives, and the common people have become so impressed with the idea, that the woman would be in danger of lynching if she were not safely lodged in jail. On the other hand, all the Judges, doctors and education men, who have investigated the cases, are satisfied that there was no legal evidence against her.

Mrs. Weber is a heavily built, stocky-looking woman, who excites repulsion in all who come in contact with her on account of her sickly smile, her long yellow teeth and her sallow complexion. She exercises an overwhelming fondness for her children, and loves to fondle them. While she does so, she gurgles with delight at their loud expressions of endearment. The first child whose death is attributed to Mme. Weber was Cécile Perysborne, girl of three years. She was the child of neighbors of the Webers, living in the quarter of Montmartre. Mme. Weber lived at that time at No. 53 Rue des Trois-Frères, Montmartre, and the Perysbornes lived at No. 57 in the same street. She offered to come in and take care of the child whenever Mme. Perysborne wished to go anywhere, and the busy mother was glad to accept the offer.

The girl was frightened when the agent first smiled at her, but the woman quickly overcame the little one's fears with presents of candy.

One afternoon the mother went away on a long shopping errand, leaving her daughter in the care of Madame Weber. When she returned the child was lying motionless.

to Madame Weber, but a year later three children whom she had been fondling died mysteriously within two months and one narrowly escaped. Then the outcry began and the ogres were arrested.

She passed four months in prison while the authorities were gathering evidence concerning the strange fatalities. Then her case was sent to the Court of Assizes. The first judge, President Favre, to whom the case was presented, refused to hear it.

What Chance Has REAL Democracy?

Where Leaders Sell the Rank and File, the Party Is Diseased, Dangerously, if Not Fatally.

I HIS country has recently listened to discussion about "The Democratic party, the Democratic candidates, the probability and possibilities of Democratic success."

We want every intelligent Democrat in this country, especially those who read this newspaper, to give some thought to the conditions and prospects of the Democratic party, based upon a public statement by one of the Democracy's most cunning, most influential and most shamelessly corrupt leaders, Patrick H. McCarren, State Senator from Brooklyn.

McCarren's statement was called forth by Governor Hughes's demand for a recount of the votes cast for Mayor in New York city in 1905.

Nobody knows better than Patrick H. McCarren and the political criminals associated with him in the stealing of votes what the result must be in an honest recount of those fraudulently counted ballots that put a dishonest man in office to serve dishonest trusts that own him.

Like McClellan, the fraudulent Mayor, McCarren is the corrupt agent of the trusts that fear honesty in office.

McCarren represents those trusts, and he shed brilliant light upon the actual condition of the Democratic party in the attack that he made upon Hughes when the latter demanded the recount bill.

McCarren spoke in sudden fear and anger, and he told the TRUTH that was in his mind when he said to the Herald reporter, speaking of Hughes's message to the Senate demanding the passage of the recount bill:

"This man Hughes is an ingrate. He is doing something that will plague him so long as he lives. There is no demand for this bill. Even the man who professes that he was elected over Mayor McClellan does not want it. This is a drive at the Mayor and myself. I ELECTED HIM. If it had not been for THE MAYOR AND MYSELF, HUGHES'S OPPONENT WOULD HAVE BEEN ELECTED BY ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND. I do not know what the Mayor will do, but I know that an outrage has been perpetrated to-day by the Governor of the State."

Men who pin their faith to the Democratic party will please read over that statement by a typically cunning political criminal WHO ACTUALLY LEADS AND CONTROLS DEMOCRATIC VOTES. They will please think of the MEANING of this statement concerning an election in the greatest Democratic city and in what should be the greatest Democratic State in the Union.

Patrick H. McCarren said of Hughes:

"I ELECTED HIM. If it had not been for the Mayor and myself Hughes's opponent would have been elected by 100,000."

Every man acquainted with the facts in New York knows that Pat McCarren tells the truth when he says that he elected Hughes Governor. He registered the repeaters and paid them. He brought the repeaters, after they had voted in New York city against Hearst, over to vote against him again in Brooklyn, under different names.

He and McClellan did indeed prevent the election of Hughes's opponent BY ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND. In doing this McCarren did the work of the trusts that own him. He did the work of the Standard Oil Trust that pays him an annual salary, as Thomas W. Lawson has testified under oath. He did the work of Ryan and other owners of gas and street car trusts that did not want in office a man beyond their control.

We want our readers and all Democrats to understand these facts when they consider the future of the Democratic party and its possibilities of usefulness.

The Democratic candidate for Governor of New York running against Mr. Hughes was beaten NOT BY REPUBLICANS, BUT BY DEMOCRATIC LEADERS AND OFFICE-HOLDERS. It was McCarren with his repeaters and his trust money, McClellan with his coerced office-holders and trust money, that defeated the Democratic party in the election for Governor last Fall, AND THEY ARE BOTH CALLED DEMOCRATS.

In the same way Duane was defeated in Chicago, not by Republicans, but by Democratic leaders, servile to the corporations that disapproved of Duane. In New York in the Governorship election, and in Chicago in the late Mayoralty election, and all over the country, if an election is important, if the name on the Democratic ticket means menace to trust dishonesty, the Democratic candidate is defeated, not by Republican voters or the Republican party, BUT BY SO-CALLED DEMOCRATIC LEADERS AND DEMOCRATIC OFFICE-HOLDERS THAT KNEW THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE IN OBEDIENCE TO TRUST ORDERS.

What hope is there for a sincere Democrat to secure the success of Democratic principles and the election of candidates devoted to true Democracy THROUGH THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY?

What hope is there for a minority party—the Democratic party—which can become a majority party only by declaring for principles that will appeal to independent Republicans and to patriotic citizens generally, and which is knifed from within by its own leaders, trust-owned, whenever it does declare through its candidates for progress and popular principles?

What life is there in a Democratic party which does not dare advocate Democracy? What hope or honor is there in a party led by a band of political Maguires, hired ruffians of the trusts, always ready to do the trust's dirty work and to destroy any measure or assassinate any candidate that corrupt political speculators have marked with their disapproval?

Can a machine do honest and useful work if the engineers that direct its energies are fundamentally dishonest men?

Can a party controlled by corruption benefit the people? Is not the Democratic party a cannon that is turned against its owners instead of being turned against the enemy? A cannon with a traitor for a gunner is no more dangerous than a political party led by traitors to the people.

The country demands a NEW party, a party of INDEPENDENCE, one that will work to-day for the people as the Democratic party of Jefferson worked in the past.

Throughout this country the Independence League, made up of INDEPENDENT MEN, is growing and organizing. A statement such as that made by the political criminal and Democratic leader, McCarren, should send hundreds of thousands of Democratic voters into the Independence League.

That independent party offers a field of legitimate activity to Jeffersonian Democrats and to Lincoln Republicans.

It is the party that will be able successfully to combat those Wall street Democrats and Wall street Republicans that have united in the past and that unite NOW to defeat all the people to favor a few plutocrats.

Can any independent, honest voter in the United States deny that his vote and a million others are outweighed by dishonesty of leadership in the old political parties?

Can any Democrat free himself from a feeling of shame at following such men as McCarren, Taggart and others that would smile cynically at the mere SUGGESTION of honesty in politics?

Good citizens will work for the establishment of a third party, the party of the Independence League, that can unite honest citizenship and reject trust alliances and trust control.

Before you read the editorial—if you do read it—please study this strange drawing, and ask yourself what you WOULD WRITE if you had to preach a sermon about it.

READERS of this Sunday editorial piece write in your own minds the article that should go with this picture. A hairy, creepy, dreadful caterpillar can lie unconscious for a while, and then become a beautiful thing with wings, it is not unreasonable to believe that a wicked, selfish man can go to sleep in his grave and wake up a beautiful, winged angel.

Was THAT the thought in the mind of the strange old artist when he made this picture? Is it the thought IN YOUR MIND when you look at the picture? Or did Blake have a different thought, and have you one still different, as you study his attempt to make THIS thought clear?

What makes life interesting is variety and multiplicity in our thoughts. There is a cloud in the sky, and a dozen different men look at it. A sailor looks at the cloud and thinks of his crops. The poet looks at it and says, "It's a pity so few words rhyme with cloud."

The sentimental young man rolls his eyes and says, "I suppose she is looking at that cloud, too."

The true boy thinks only of his stomach and how sincerely that the cloud won't get blacker and spoil the picnic.

Many poets, philosophers and religious teachers have taken their text from the caterpillar, its cocoon, and its United States by the new printed. It will go into two millions of families; it will be seen certainly by the millions, and perhaps by such or ten millions of human beings. How many quick-passing thoughts will awake in those millions of minds, as they take a glance at the picture, as they look to themselves "I wonder what THAT is about?"

How many interesting thoughts how many interesting revelations of personality and imagination will be stirred as the picture is studied with attention and concentration?

The pessimist will see in the picture only a reflection of his hopeless mood. He will say, perhaps, "What does life amount to? A caterpillar, a leaf, a human child—they come and they go and leave no trace."

The hopeful soul, on the contrary, will say:

"An excellent idea to combine the human being and the caterpillar in the cocoon. For, as the caterpillar is incapable of appreciating the glorious life in the sunlight that awaits him, so we human beings are incapable of appreciating the glorious future that awaits us here on this earth, and hereafter in another life."

The religious mind will look at the picture and say: "Beautifully emblematic of the universal love and fate, which controls us all. Every thing is in HIS care."

"The caterpillar made its food await it. It is content. It finds another life waiting for it as a butterfly and it is happy as a butterfly. And the human child finds the world and conditions prepared to meet it. The earth is prepared for the growth and development of ALL THE CREATURES PUT ON IT. The caterpillar on the leaf, the whale deep in the ocean, the bird flying high above the mountain, and the child helpless, but protected by affection, ALL ARE PROVIDED FOR. Wonderful is the wisdom that controls the world and wonderful the love of the directing power."

The only real thing in life is THOUGHT. The Rock of Gibraltar seems real, but it is only real to you, because YOU SEE IT AND THINK OF IT. If you should bump your head against it, the reality would not be in the rock, or in the bump, but in the feeling in your head, and the angry THOUGHT arising.

The thunder or the earthquake are real only because of the thought and earthquake THOUGHT in the mind that perceives the phenomena.

Millions of men have lived and died on this earth, and all that is left of them is THEIR THOUGHTS, written in laws, in poems, in pictures, in statues, in architecture, in better civilization. THEY are come back to dust, BUT THEIR THOUGHTS REMAIN AND LIVE.

This picture printed in two million newspapers to-day will do good if it shall stir up some chain of thought leading to SOME ONE THOUGHT of permanent value. I wonder what makes us THINK makes us GROW.

SOCIETY BRIDES TURN TO SIMPLE CEREMONIES OF OLD COLONIAL DAYS

"New" Fad Wins Throng of Recruits, Who Break Through Exclusive Set's Stern Rules.

By a Society Woman.

So many of the brides of the present are turning to the simple in ultra fashion. The great pomp and ceremony usually attending the wedding is gradually being replaced by the "new" fad of the simple. The brides of the present are turning to the simple in ultra fashion. The great pomp and ceremony usually attending the wedding is gradually being replaced by the "new" fad of the simple.

Marion Fish to Have No Bridesmaids.

Miss Marion Fish of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, one of the wealthiest and most popular girls in New York's 400, and who entertains an admiring friendship for Miss Adams, will on Wednesday become the bride of a Mr. Z. Gray, with wedding appointments almost as devoid of display as those of Miss Adams.

Miss Fish will have no bridesmaids or flower girls, her only attendant being her cousin, Miss Janet Fish. The brides, instead of preceding the bride to the altar, will take their seats in the forward part of the church just before the ceremony begins.

The bride gown is to be of cream satin, cut in long, simple lines, trimmed with ribbons of rose point lace. The bridal veil will also be of rose point.

Weddings of the Coming Week.

The coming week seems to be the favored of June for smart weddings beginning tomorrow with that of Abigail Adams and Robert Homans and closing with the Halliwell-Bloom wedding in New Bedford on Saturday.

Miss Adams, who is an ex-officer of the Vincent Club, is the daughter of Dr. John Quincy Adams of Beacon street and a direct descendant of John Adams, the second President of the United States. Her uncle is Charles Francis Adams, Brooks Adams and Henry Adams of Washington and an aunt is Mrs. Henry Parker Quincy, Mrs. Adams of Beacon street.

Miss Adams is considered one of the prettiest girls in society. Her features are classic, her height medium and her coloring between brunette and chamois. She is at once noted for her distinguished bearing and pleasing manner.

Mr. Homans is a son of Mrs. John Homans of Beacon street and his sister is Mrs. Katherine, Mrs. Helen and Miss Marian Homans. He is one of the town's best known clubmen, being identified with the Somerset, Tavistock, Tennis and Racquet and Union Clubs. He graduated from Harvard in 1904.

Miss Adams to Wear Heirloom Veil.

Miss Adams and her mother closed their Commonwealth avenue house some days ago and are at their home in Quincy where preparations are in progress for the wedding, which will bear the distinction of being the most simple of the year. There will be no bridesmaids, no decorations, no flowers, and as Miss Adams herself says, "nothing." The ceremony will be performed at the house in the presence of only the near relatives.

The bride will wear a white satin gown trimmed with old family lace and will wear a lace veil which is a family heirloom and was worn by her mother and grandmother at her wedding. The honeymoon will be passed in Europe.

Whitney-Dodge Ceremony on Tuesday.

On Tuesday, at 12 o'clock, in the First Parish Church, Brookline, Miss Laura Whitney, the third and most attractive of the Hon. Henry M. Whitney's quartet of pretty daughters, will become the bride of Philip Dodge, Jr. of Omaha, Neb.

Miss Whitney is also doing away with all the fuss and feathers possible, and, instead of the old-time group of bridesmaids and maid of honor, has chosen her sister Josephine as her only attendant.

Miss Whitney, who is tall, slender, of chamois coloring and graceful bearing, is, like her sisters, a Vincent Club girl. The two elder Whitney girls are married, the eldest being Mrs. John Pennington Gardner of Beaghton Circle, Brookline, and the other Mrs. Herbert Lyman of Marlboro street. On the occasion of the Lyman-Whitney wedding in the First Parish Church, Brookline last Spring, Miss Laura served in the group of attendants and was much admired.

Comes of Wealthy Western Family.

Mr. Dodge, who comes of a wealthy Western family, is a Harvard '04 man. The marriage ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William H. Lyon, assisted by the Rev. Howard N. Brown of King's Chapel.

The bride will wear a white satin gown elaborately trimmed with heavy lace. Her veil will be of tulle, and her bouquet of valley lilies. She will be given away by her father, Henry M. Whitney.

Miss Dodge will wear a white gown and hat of yellow straw trimmed with pink. Her bouquet will be of lilies.

John I. H. will be the best man, and the ushers will be Herbert Lyman and J. Pennington Gardner, James S. Whitney, Rodman Peabody, Andrew C. Lyman, Arthur E. Piper, Alexander Whitehead and Robert Wolcott. A reception will follow the ceremony at the Whitney residence, No. 419 Beacon street, where they will make their home.

Brides of the "Best Day of All."

Wednesday, the "best day of all," will be marked by a deluge of brides, the ceremony being so important, as well as the most simple, will be that of the Hon. John P. Smith, Milton, of Miss Rosemond Peabody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Peabody, Jr., of "Hawfield," to B. Nasson Hamlin, of Cambridge, England.

The ceremony will be performed with the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop of the Diocese of New England, and the Rev. Wendell Peabody of the Groton School of Cambridge.

Mr. Hamlin, who is one of the most prominent members of the Norfolk Hunt, is one of London's wealthiest bachelors.

Will Pass Honeymoon Abroad.

On the occasion of her wedding Miss Peabody will wear white satin with a long train. She will be given away by her mother and will have as her only attendant her sister, Miss Rosemond Peabody.

Miss Peabody is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Peabody, who were married in 1860. Her mother was Rosemond Peabody, who was married to Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Lawrence, and her grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. M. and Mrs. E. Endicott Peabody.

Nickerson-Hamlin Ceremony at Leominster.

Miss Mildred Nickerson has accepted Wednesday for her wedding to Charles Hamlin, a Cambridge graduate, who will be solemnized at the First Church, Leominster, on Wednesday, June 12. The bride will wear a white gown and will be given away by her father, Mr. Charles Nickerson.

MRS. DE PASSE OF NEW YORK CITY

She Did It All for Her Husband and Her Children

Mrs. Alina DePasse, 176 E. 16th St., New York, N. Y., writes:

"It gives me pleasure to testify to the creative qualities of Peruna and Mannin."

"I was afflicted for over seven years with catarrh of the head, throat and digestive organs. I consulted many physicians, but they did me no good."

"One day I happened to read some testimonials in a number of magazines. I decided to try Peruna and Mannin. I bought a bottle of each, and after taking them for a week I noticed a change for the better. So I kept it up, and after using twelve bottles I was perfectly cured."

"I also gave the medicine to my children and they had the same beneficial result. I would never be without these remedies in the house."

"I highly recommend Peruna and Mannin to my friends, and to you to everybody."

Mrs. Alina DePasse, 176 E. 16th St., Appleton, Wis. writes:

"It gives me pleasure to recommend Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I had this disease for a number of years, and could not enjoy a mouthful of food that I ate. It was indeed a great relief when I hit upon Peruna, and obtained decided results from the first. I took six bottles before I felt entirely cured of my trouble, but I had an aggravated case."

BIGGEST & M. STOCKHOLDERS FIGHT THE MERGER.

W. B. Lawrence and General S. C. Lawrence Refuses to Yield to New Haven.

SEE HAND OF STANDARD OIL

"New England Will Fall Into Hands of Stock Waterers," Says Former.

"WHY DOESN'T GUILD ACT?"

"Harriman, Morgan, Mellen and the Rest Will Corrupt Legislature," He Says.

"I" the Massachusetts Legislature does not prevent the absorption of the Boston & Maine railroad by the New York, New Haven & Hartford.

Mr. Lawrence used expressions which could not be misunderstood in describing the members of the Standard Oil combination, Harriman and the New Haven leaders.

Mr. Lawrence was very happy at 200 at No. 15 Tremont street, the Kimball building, last day yesterday, but he had given up on his true to tell the people of New England, through the American, what he believes the Standard Oil Company, Maine and Harriman are attempting to do.

"It will mean that the only honest railroad in the United States will be in the hands of a set of unscrupulous men, who will use the Standard Oil Company, Maine and Harriman to do their bidding."

"They'll Corrupt Legislature."

That the crowd back of the scheme to absorb the Boston & Maine will stop at nothing to accomplish their purpose is the belief of Mr. Lawrence.

"They will corrupt the Legislature if they can, they will buy up the newspapers, and they will do every law of Massachusetts," said Mr. Lawrence, with an emphasis which showed that he believed what he was saying.

"They have already begun buying up the newspapers."

With each Summer Suit order we will include a FANCY VEST of imported fabric, to measure, FREE.

177-179 Washington St.

BOSTON BUSINESS MEN, HOW DO YOU LIKE THIS?

And Yet Your Governor Does Not Do Anything to STOP the Merger, and Your Mayor Says He FAVORS It

FROM YESTERDAY'S NEW YORK WORLD. BOSTON'S LOST RAILWAYS.

The absorption of the great Boston & Maine system by the New Haven will be a crowning act of predatory encroachment on New England railway interests by New York. Only a few comparatively unimportant lines will preserve their separate identity. As a result of railway consolidation this makes the acquisition of the Boston & Albany by the New York Central a modest mouthful by comparison.

For slightly more than two decades the New Haven, an anachronism, has been pushing its way across New England, devouring the railways of Boston as it goes. It gulped down the Old Colony, the road of Pilgrim traditions, and with it the Boston & Providence. It swallowed the Providence & Worcester, the Norwich & Worcester, the New York & New England and the Berkshire line, along with scores of lesser roads. Into its maw went the Fall River boats, Jim Fisk's pride: the fleet of the Providence & Stonington Company and the New Bedford and Bridgeport lines. Now by its absorption of the Boston & Maine the New Haven will get possession of the Fitchburg, the Eastern, the Boston & Lowell and the Concord & Montreal, once distinctively Boston properties.

Alas for the departed railway glory of the Hub! It has barred the old prestige for a larger bank account. For the center of its great South Station there is nothing in the names on the cars to show that it is not in the Grand Central in Manhattan. A brief while and from the North Station also the last reminder of the home roads will be gone.

300 miles and 200 miles of branches or a total of 500 miles of track. The Boston & Maine has just been increased 400,000,000 with 1,000,000,000 of stock. The Boston & Maine has just been increased 400,000,000 with 1,000,000,000 of stock. The Boston & Maine has just been increased 400,000,000 with 1,000,000,000 of stock.

"Why doesn't the Guild act?"

"What is the Latest Movement?"

Relative Figures.

The Boston & Maine has 100 miles of road which it owns and its average mileage per mile is 2,500.

The New Haven has 100 miles of road which it owns and its average mileage per mile is 2,500.

LINCOLN REPUBLICAN ENROLLS IN LEAGUE

Thomas Mills Changes Political Affiliations of Lifetime; Tired of Boss Rule.

From a tired of the old Republicanism an enthusiastic supporter of the Independent League in the record of Thomas Mills, who tells the Boston Sunday American his reasons for changing the political affiliations of a lifetime.

Mr. Mills is a retired merchant, seventy years old, who has for the last few years lived at No. 24 Quincy street, Dorchester. Yesterday he went to the office of the Election Commissioners at No. 1 City Hall and formally changed his enrollment from a Republican to an Independent League member.

A Gigantic Half-Price Sale

On Monday, June 10, We Offer, in Practically Every Department in Our Store, New Spring and Summer Merchandise at Exactly ONE-HALF PRICE

Several weeks ago notice was sent to every department buyer in our store that on or about June 10 we would hold A ONE-HALF PRICE SALE in every one of our departments. They were instructed to set about immediately to purchase from manufacturers and importers desirable summer merchandise and if possible in no case to pay over 50c ON THE DOLLAR, as we were determined to sell Exactly One-Half Price or Less whether it was cost every lot purchased at.

Owing to the unprecedented lateness of the spring, in fact the most unseasonable weather in April and May known for 25 years, our buyers and agents have been unusually successful in procuring the lots here advertised for Monday at half or less than half the goods cost to manufacture or to import. And as our main object in this special sale is, not to make a profit, but to give our patrons bargains they will long remember to OUR CREDIT, and to make many new customers for future business, we shall sell every lot at HALF PRICE OR LESS.

As many of the lots are small an early attendance Monday morning will be necessary, for we can offer this splendid merchandise AT HALF PRICE only while these special lots last. Over one hundred extra salespeople have been engaged for this TREMENDOUS SALE, as well as an increased DELIVERY FORCE. Patrons will, however, please favor us by taking small packages with them when convenient.

African Ostrich Plumes

Military Department, Second Floor

Notwithstanding the fact that raw ostrich stock is steadily advancing in price, we are able, through extremely fortunate circumstances, to offer you these beautiful plumes at half price. These are not the ordinary "sale" plumes, but from regular stock.

They are French curl and mostly black or white, but some lots offer a good variety of colors.

Extra salespeople and extra space for Monday.
A 10c bill and with each plume.
Positively none to dealers.

SCORES REPORTED DEAD; MANY ARE INJURED BY TORNADO.

Immense Damage by Storm Rivaling in Severity Famous St. Louis Cyclone.

WHOLE COUNTIES RUINED
Parts of Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana Devastated; Wires Are Down.

30 DEATHS IN ONE TOWN
Body of Woman Found in a Tree 100 Feet Distant From Her Home.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 8.—At least 100 lives have been lost and several hundred persons seriously injured, judging from the latest reports from the regions in southern Illinois and southwestern Kentucky visited last night by a tornado and cloudburst. Southwestern Indiana also suffered some extent, but no serious loss of life has been reported there.

The property loss will be large. Most of the crops in the district visited by the storm are still down, and reports are coming from roundabout sources, so that complete details probably cannot be secured for several days. All reports indicate that the tornado was the most severe felt in this region since the great St. Louis cyclone of some years ago.

Many Crushed to Death.
York, Nashville, Tenn. and other towns are some of the places where people were practically destroyed. In Kentucky the greatest loss, both in life and property, was caused by a cloudburst at Bradely. Practically all of that county was visited by the storm.

Cracks and trees overhead their heads and many houses along the route were swept away. At Bradely and Sullivan, Ky., many bodies have been recovered in the towns. In Illinois and Kentucky, reports came from the towns of Paducah, where many falling walls toward the possibility of lives being lost. In Kentucky, reports came from the towns of Paducah, where many falling walls toward the possibility of lives being lost.

York, Ill., Is Wiped Out.
York, Ill., is said to have been practically wiped out and the casualties will number nearly half a hundred. Among the identified dead are Henry B. Jones, Mrs. Wade Pinkston, Henry Williams and family of four, Omer E. Haines, Mrs. Robert White and two children, and a negro named Johnson.

As an illustration of the force of the storm the body of Mrs. Pinkston was blown into the length of a mile from her home, where it had been buried by the wind.

At New Milford at least a dozen dead were reported. In Kentucky, reports came from the towns of Paducah, where many falling walls toward the possibility of lives being lost. In Kentucky, reports came from the towns of Paducah, where many falling walls toward the possibility of lives being lost.

FIRE DRIVES MAN TO STREET IN PANIC

Early Morning Blaze Fills Halls With Smoke; Damage But $50.

Two families were aroused from sleep and compelled to rush their way to the street, through smoke and flames, in their night clothes, when fire broke out on the second floor of the building at No. 107 Main street, Cambridge, yesterday afternoon, exploded with much violence and caused considerable damage. The fire was extinguished by the Cambridge Gas Light Co. men in less than five minutes. The damage was estimated at $50.

The explosion did not injure anyone, but it was a very close call. The fire was caused by a gas leak in the kitchen of one of the families.

Mark Twain Is Ready to Dissipate to Teach Others to Be Better

Famous Humorist Sails for London on What He Says Is to Be His Last Trip There.

By Boston American Special Wire.
New York, June 8. Mark Twain, said on the Atlantic Transport Line steamer, the last trip he would make to Europe, having had on a temporary basis, he was permitted to go to London where he had been for some time. He was in London for some time. He was in London for some time.

Ready to Do His Share.
I am going to Oxford University to receive the degree of doctor of literature on June 24, and shall spend two days in London before I return. I am not bound to come back on this same ship on June 24, that is, I expect to return later. But I will never say that I have not done my share. I have not done my share. I have not done my share.

OLD MILESTONE REPLACED
Historical Exercises Held on Savin Hill Where First Settlement Was Made.

ALL DAY OBSERVANCE
Festivities Began at Break of Day and Lasted Till Midnight Came.

THE 277th anniversary of the settlement of Dorchester was celebrated yesterday with exercises which began at 6 o'clock in the morning and did not end till late last night. The old town was decorated with flags and bunting, and more than 75,000 persons were carried by the street cars to Dorchester to take part in the pageant celebration.

BEAT THE SUB-ROGOTTES ARE CHEV FREE REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY DURING WEEK

Prospects for Business Brighter Than at Any Time During Present Year.

By far the most remarkable feature of last week's real estate trading was the briskness of the suburban selling. Newcomers, particularly in the North End, were the force in the real estate activity.

With the advent of suburban real estate selling, increased, in an unusual degree. The prospect is better than at any time since 1904, when a similar season passed. It became a complete lot of the leading real estate brokers.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY TO TAKE THE ELEVATOR

We are up stairs where the rent is low. Dealers paying ground floor rent charge you a larger portion of it; they must get it out of you. We do, honestly believe, the largest piano business in Boston in proportion to expense; that is why we underbid other dealers. Take elevator and save money. Here is the best list of bargains in new and slightly used pianos ever offered in Boston, comprising sixty thousand dollar stock, bought of a general retiring from business.

SELLS TRUST PIANOS AT CUT PRICES

ALL OVER THE U. S.

No matter where you live, no matter what kind of a piano you want, the Roxbury Storage Sale Rooms will sell it to you. It's over two years now since the arrogant Piano Trust told us that we must not cut the prices on their instruments. If we disobeyed the order of the Trust it would put us out of business. We laughed at the Trust and the fight followed. We watched our brains against the music of the Piano Trust and went into battle—a long, hard-out and double-cut piano selling battle. The fight is still on and we are still selling the best Trust pianos, new, lower—much lower—than ever before.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PIANO DEALERS!

No piano will be sold to dealers or makers for a less price than marked by posting a notice in this column. A notice posted in these columns is a notice posted in the columns of the Boston American.

LONDON Britons Stirred by Dazzling Splendor of Yankee Women at English Horse Show

IRISH PEOPLE MUST FIGHT FOR OWN FREEDOM, SAYS DR. EMMET.

But It Would Be Folly Now, Declares Descendant of Famous Martyr.

CRIES, 'REPEAL THE UNION'

England's Difficulty Would Be Ireland's Opportunity to Strike for Liberty.

BACKS UP REDMONT PARTY

Explains Attitude on "Physical Force" in Letter to Patrick Ford.

"I firmly believe that there must come a time when the Irish will have to fight, but not under Fenian organization, it is one of the startling statements in a letter which Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet, a descendant of the Irish martyr, Robert Emmet, makes in a letter which he has written to Patrick Ford of New York, Editor of the Irish World. "If the English government dare not or will not grant home rule nor repeal the union there can be no alternative but fight, for the Irish people must some day fight for their own freedom," says Dr. Emmet.

The letter which was written nearly five months ago is published today by Mr. Ford.

Here is the letter in part:

Must Fight for Justice.

Dear Mr. Ford:

I thank you for calling my attention to a recent letter written by me to Mr. O'Donnell, in reply to a communication from him, and to the possibility that I might be misunderstood as an advocate of a plan of action "calculated to do serious harm to the work which John Redmond and his party are doing."

I have not the slightest faith in any promise of the English Government.

I have not lost confidence in my personal friends, the National leaders, as they have shown much in bettering the condition of the people, and they will doubtless do much more.

There seems to me but one solution, and that is a repeal of the Union with Ireland.

But I do firmly believe there must come a time when the Irish will have to fight, but not under Fenian organization.

I write to Mr. Emmet:

Has He Faith in English Promise.

AMERICANS WIN AT LONDON HORSE SHOW

New York Society Women Splendidly Gowned, Throng the Boxes.

LONDON, June 10.—Four prizes were captured by American exhibitors today at the International Horse Show. The triumph, secured by F. Faber of Milwaukee, captured another first in the competition for stallions of our breed. Alfred S. Mackay of New York took first prize in the pair competition for two-year-olds and over with Margaretta Margaret and Beauty. Faber captured a second prize in the two-year-old hackney class with his Matchless Princess. A third was the best Alfred G. Vanderbilt took in the single harness horse competition.

An American idea.

The horse show at the Olympia is called an "international" exhibition, but in every respect—in inception, execution and direction—it is an American idea, an American success.

The leading spirit in the whole affair is Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and when he is asked what he thought of the show he said:

"It is beyond my most sanguine expectations. I believe it will prove to be an interesting and popular event as the Derby. It will really be a success, and for some time, it will be a great attraction."

Duchess of Marlborough.

All New York society now is town at the show. The boxes were thronged with notable women, splendidly gowned.

The royal box this afternoon at the Duchess of Marlborough, with her son and W. G. Vanderbilt. Alfred Vanderbilt, who was with her, said that the show was a great success.

TALKS ON TEETH

BY G. GORDON MARTIN (Incorporated)

SCIENCE AND HEALTH

Science—dental science, in the form of Dr. G. Gordon Martin's ALVEOLAR Method of replacing teeth in the mouth without the aid of plate or bridge work, has come to the aid of those who are in bad health, because of bad teeth, or teeth that are fastened to a makeshift of a partial plate or a tortuous bridge.

Good teeth are a sure cure for a large percentage of the ills to which man is heir. Food improperly assimilated is not going to be properly assimilated when it gets down into the stomach, and in a short time the stomach is going to rebel, and when that times comes the food which the organs are going on a strike.

There must be harmony down there or there will be trouble. MRS. ASTOR'S GOWNS CAUSE HER ILLNESS

LONDON, June 7.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, strikes with excessive fatigue and a nervous breakdown, which began with a chill, is paying the price of wearing the extremely low cut gowns for which she is famous.

The nature of Mrs. Astor's illness is so severe that she is confined to her apartment in the Hotel Ritz, and the two physicians in attendance have forbidden her to leave her bed.

Cosmet Astor is on her way to New York, so that Mrs. Astor to come alone here.

Only a few visitors are admitted to the sick room. One of them is the Duke of Marlborough, who is at Mrs. Astor's side almost constantly. She appears each day, bearing either fruit or a basket of roses.

This is the very night of the London season.

PRINCE OF WALES A WINE CONNOISSEUR

LONDON, June 8.—The Prince of Wales, who is doing out a good deal this season, has a de-facto wine taste. He is doing out the light, sparkling wines that have come into fashion, and always asks for old port. He will not drink bottled port, preferring some of the fruit vintages from the south.
